BATTLE OF THE BITS COMPUTER PROGRAMMING COMPETITION

Hey titans! The Computer Science Club will be hosting a programming competition from 5:00pm to 9:00pm at the library on Thursday, December 7th. The competition will give high school students from around the area a chance to compete to create programs that solve a series of problem sets. Each problem set will be worth a certain number of points based on difficulty, and the team with the most points will win the competition. We will accept programs written in Python, Java, JavaScript, C#, C, and C++. THE EVENT WILL PROVIDE FREE FOOD. We look forward to seeing as many people come out as possible.

To sign up, please visit the following link or check out our website at antelopeclub.com:
